

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

CONTACT: Taylor Eben
Publicity Coordinator
(484) 894-9773
taylor@editorialdepartment.com

Mary Maddox Transports Readers into Twisted Supernatural World in New Book, *Daemon Seer

TUCSON, AZ - Author Mary Maddox seamlessly weaves horror and fantasy together to create a captivating storyline including supernatural daemons, sadistic mortals and complex relationships in the new novel Daemon Seer.

When protagonist Lu Darlington was a teenager, she and her friend, Lisa, escaped a cold-blooded killer. Lu never told anyone about the daemon who saved her life that day. Daemon Seer picks up ten years later when Lisa shows up at Lu's door, on the run from yet another psychopath stalker. But Lisa isn't the only one who's after Lu. One by one, the daemons descend: Voracious Chama. Sinister Black Claw. Beautiful Talion. Each wants Lu as their own, but she already "belongs" to the daemon Talion, the same daemon who has already bound himself to the women in Lu's family.

Lu isn't your typical heroine. From a young age, she's understood the harshness of the world, but this new, supernatural world poses as a threat... and offers to save her, at a price. As danger looms overhead, Talion demands that Lu bind herself to him in an effort to save Lisa's life, but doing so would destroy an innocent man and change Lu forever. Can she navigate the dark intrigues of the daemon world without becoming completely consumed by it?

Mary Maddox is known for "writing that's not afraid of the dark." Readers interested in horror and dark fantasy who want to be consumed by whatever they're reading will find Daemon Seer to be quite a compelling read. Maddox's dark, pulsating style of writing enriches the storyline, making the novel a definite page-turner.

Daemon Seer by Mary Maddox was published in March 2015 from Cantraip Press. It is available on Amazon in print and Kindle editions, and online at Barnes & Noble. For more information about Mary Maddox and Daemon Seer, please visit www.marymaddox.com.

For more information about Daemon Seer or to schedule an interview with Mary Maddox, please contact Taylor Eben, Publicity Coordinator at The Editorial Department, at (484) 894-9773 or email taylor@editorialdepartment.com.

About Mary Maddox:

Mary Maddox is a horror and dark fantasy novelist with what The Charleston Times-Courier calls "a Ray Bradbury-like gift for deft, deep-shadowed description." Born in Soliders Summit, UT, Maddox graduated with honors in creative writing from Knox College, and went on to earn an MFA from the University of Iowa Writers' Workshop. She taught writing at Eastern Illinois University and has published stories in various journals, including Yellow Silk, Farmer's Market, The Scream Online, and The Huffington Post. The Illinois Arts Council has honored her fiction with a Literary Award and an Artist's Grant. Visit her online at www.marymaddox.com.

About The Editorial Department:

Founded in 1980, The Editorial Department (TED) is one of publishing's oldest author services firms. For more than 30 years, TED has provided editorial, design and career support services to professional and aspiring authors. TED's talented team of editors, manuscript consultants, cover artists, book designers and marketing specialists takes a personalized approach in helping clients bring their work to fruition in the ever-changing landscape of publishing. This method has helped land TED coverage in such publications as The New York Times, Publishers Weekly and Writer's Digest.

####